This information supplements the January 1988 Schedule of Exhibitions.

Please keep it until the July 1988 issue.

March 11 - May 22, 1988

Milton Rogovin Photographs:
Portraits Revisited

Thirty-three black-and-white photographs of ethnic and blue-collar residents of Rogovin's native Buffalo include portraits taken in the early 1970s of families and individuals living near his optometry office, juxtaposed with pictures of the same people taken more than a decade later.

May 31 - August 21, 1988

Alex Katz: Nocturnal Paintings

The first museum showing of the artist's most recent works, all painted in 1987. The six large canvases--one is twenty-four feet long--present dramatic dusk and night scenes of his Soho neighborhood and of his summer environment in Maine.

July 12 - November 20, 1988

Art Nouveau in France

A Carlo Bugatti tea set, Lalique jewelry, Gallé glass, and Toulouse-Lautrec posters are included in this representative group of French Art Nouveau objects from the Museum's collections and local lenders. Along with American Arts & Crafts 1890-1920, this show complements the major traveling exhibition Bent Wood and Metal Furniture: 1850-1946 (now opening August 24).

Please note that Artists from the Western Reserve has been postponed until the summer of 1989, when it will celebrate the 70th anniversary of the May Show.
